

MCPHERSON COUNTY

McPherson County is known for the prosperity of an industrial base and the ability to deliver very competitive and extremely reliable electrical power to customers. The municipally owned McPherson Board of Public Utilities boasts one of the most competitive prices for electric power in the State of Kansas and the nation, which has helped industries flourish in McPherson County.

Considered one of the most industrialized small communities in the nation, more than 55 industries already call McPherson County home.

Several large companies in McPherson include Pfizer, CHS Oil Refinery, Viega, Johns-Manville and many others.

Located 15 miles south of McPherson is the growing community of Moundridge, which is the global headquarters location for the Bradbury Company, the Grasshopper mowing company and Southwind Global Aviation.
